

HEADS DOWN FOR A DAY OF PRINTMAKING

“It all happened when eight members of Pershore Arts spent a happy January day trying out different printing methods, including linocuts and collagraphs, at St. Peter’s Church in Malvern” says Chris Dodd. “Aimed at complete printmaking beginners like me, it was a great workshop which turned out to be less difficult than I thought it might be.

Thanks to the expert tuition and encouragement of Andrew Judd and other members of St Peter's Printmakers, I produced my first ever lino-cut (see right) and was surprisingly pleased at the result. As I was hacking away with the cutters I didn't really expect my zebra to turn out quite so zebra-like! I don't know what my fellow members felt but personally I'm now hooked. One zebra might well lead to a whole menagerie!”

St. Peter's Printmakers meet on Friday afternoons and run occasional one-day workshops. To find out more, please contact Andrew Judd on 01685 893858 or email andrewjudd59@aol.com
